Words of the Week: more than

Topic

Next week we be exploring the woodland for science and learning about what makes something a living thing. We will make observations and comparisons. We will also be exploring living habitats such as burrows which have to do with tunnels.

Word of the Week: alive

Home Learning Tasks

Maths challenges: Please help your child to log on to Numbots and TTRockstars and give them some time to explore/play the games. It is important all children can access these as both games are an important part of our learning and Maths and Mrs Brennan is keen to throw some TTRockstars battles our way!

Topic: Research some famous man-made tunnels in England or Europe. Look at pictures of the tunnels, describe them and find out why they were built and what they were/are used for.

Reading: We can't stress the following often enough: children in primary schools (and most secondary schools would want to be included) should read (or be read to when younger) EVERY SINGLE DAY! In this article you can read about 7 amazing benefits of reading daily!
